THE WEST AND THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The silver debate in the senate Wed-nesday between western and eastern Republicans disclosed the wide breach in this issue between the two fac-tions. A senator of such high stand-ing in his party as to be the chairman of its national executive commit-tee declared that if the Berublican convention at St. Louis induced and adopted the gold monometalitet policy of President Cleveland, success at the LARGEST SOUTHERN CIRCULATION With Three Exceptions. of President Cleveland, success at the pole would be unterly impressible. Sentator Teller of Colorado, formerly secretary of the interfor, said that the safety of the party "liss in adicrence to housest, essent money, made up of the two metals side by side, as from time immemorial." The Republican free coinage senators took occasion to make reply to the attacks of the Republican press of the east, which has been reading them out of the party as "Populiats." Their answer was, in substance that they had been acting with the purty on the assumer that
